Railroad Record.

EXTEND SERVICE OF WELLS FARGO

Will Supersede Pacific on Four Railways.

Phase of War Between Gould and Harriman.

Change Will Go Into Effect on First of July.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES)

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) May 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] One of the most inexplicable arrangements in connection with the express business of the United States, and one probably disclosing an unexpected situation, is now exposed. It became known to-night between the principal Gould railroads and the Wells Fargo and Company's express.

Beginning July 1, the Wells Fargo Express will displace the Pacific Express Company on the Missouri Pacific, the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern, the Texas and Pacific, and the Wabash.

The significance of this move can only be realized when it is known that the Wells Fargo Express is controlled according to common information by the Harriman and Rockefeller interests, while the Pacific Express is dominated by the Gould lines. The Missouri Pacific is understood to hold 40 per cent. of the Pacific Express stock, and the Wells Fargo, 40 per cent., making 80 per cent. for the two Gould lines. The remaining 40 per cent. of the stock is owned by the Union Pacific. The Gould and Harriman lines own the Pacific Express, in control, resting with the Gould railroads.

The announcement that the Wells Fargo Express would in July supersede the Pacific Express on the Missouri Pacific, the Iron Mountain, the Wabash and the Texas Pacific caused the utmost surprise in railroad circles, although it was admitted that the Wells Fargo had acquired control of the Pacific Express. The explanation given was that the Wells Fargo concern had obtained the control of the Gould company by virtue of strenuous competition.

HUSTLING FRUIT TO EAST.

Southern Pacific to Shorten Time from Sacramento and Fresno to Chicago Over One Full Day.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES] SACRAMENTO, May 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Southern Pacific company, to offset the competition of the Western Pacific, has decided on a new schedule for fruit trains. The change will affect principally the fruit shipped from Sacramento and Fresno. Train will leave Sacramento and Fresno at midnight, arriving at night for Chicago, and it is announced the company will cut the run by twenty-four hours.

This reduction of time to Chicago means that fruit will get into the eastern markets in better condition and there will be less danger of it becoming dried or spoiled or broken or damaged during shipment.

A record-making run on a car of cherries has just been made from Vacaville to Council Bluffs. The company landed a car of cherries from Council Bluffs to Council Bluffs in 108 hours.

THE CAR SITUATION.

SHORTAGES AND SURPLUSES.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES) CHICAGO, May 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In the current report of the American Railway Association the statistics of the shortages and surpluses of cars, from January 1910 to May 10, 1911, show that the surplus totals 188,847, a decrease of 677 cars since the last report was issued. Decreases in flat and coal cars were 2110 and 1200 respectively, which were practically offset by increases in box and miscellaneous cars. There was an increase of 2170 in miscellaneous cars and of 161 in box cars.

Mrs. Annie Wakeman Lathrop, widow of Lathrop, wife of Louis A. Wakeman Lathrop, wife of Louis A. Wales, died yesterday. Mrs. Lathrop came to England in 1882 as the correspondent of the Boston Herald and later contributed to the Tribune, Herald and San Francisco Chronicle. Her active life broke her health.

CHICAGO, May 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Just a bit of relief from this May's torridity came today when several refreshing showers arrived during the afternoon. At that, the rain only served to cool the dust a little. The sun is hot tonight.

A break in the heat wave is predicted within the next twenty-four hours. Today's maximum temperature was 91 and the minimum 74 deg. Middle West temperatures:

VOLUNTEERS ELECT OFFICERS.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT)

CLEVELAND, May 19.—The convention of Volunteers of America ended today. A partial election of officers was held. Gen. Edward F. Gray, of Chicago, was elected president, and Col. J. W. Marshall, of New York, secretary. Gen. Hallington Booth of New York was nominated to succeed himself, which is equivalent to election.

HOOT FOR ICE CREAM.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT)

CHESTER (Ill.) May 19.—This city claims to having the champion ice cream eater of the State. On a wager, Henry J. Heine, owner of the McCormack Theological Seminary, has been licensed to preach in the Chicago presbytery. He has been before the Presbyterians General Assembly. It is regarded as unusual in the confession of faith, and leaves no latitude to local presbyteries in the matter of ordaining ministers. The candidates will have another examination.

WILL BACK WOMAN MAYOR.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT)

TOPEKA (Kan.) May 19.—"Smile and do not take too seriously the comments made by citizens. When one enters public service he or she must be prepared to take criticism. All the issues of the day are political occupying the high position of Mayor and the subjects of free comment on the part of the free citizenship." This was the advice sent Mrs. Ella Wilson, Mayor of Hunnewell, Kan., in a letter yesterday by Atty.-Gen. John S. Dawson. The Mayor had complained to Gov. Stumbo that the master of the Attorney General's office in her complaint said the Councilmen refused to meet at the place she named, and she also told of a cartoon in the woman police officer of Hunnewell was shown carrying a burglar. "Don't twist my arm," said the burglar. "I'll go quietly." Under the cartoon was poetry and this poem was written by the Mayor. In concluding his letter, Mr. Dawson says: "I can assure you that you will be protected in your rights and the laws of the State and city ordinances of your town will be obeyed if it takes the whole power of the State of Kansas to back you up."

BIG YALE CELEBRATION.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT)

CHICAGO, May 19.—The most important Yale event of the year outside of New Haven, is to be staged in Chicago tomorrow, when the seventh annual meeting of the Associated Western Yale Club will be held at the Onwentsia and University clubs. Special cars will leave all the big mid-western cities today bearing delegations of Yale alumni from the classes of 1850 to 1910, and all headed for Chicago.

It is estimated that at least 500 men will attend the reunion, the preliminary registration last night showing 400 names with more coming by every mail. President Arthur T. Haldy, who arrives tomorrow, will be the central figure in the celebration.

MILLIONAIRE USED SALAD BOWL FOR HELMET DANCE.

Late Owner of Vulcan Iron Works in Brooklyn Who Played Mumbly-Peg and Gave Banquets in Underwear Was of Unsound Mind Supreme Court Holds.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES) NEW YORK, May 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A jury in Supreme Court found yesterday that a man who dances around with a cut-glass bowl on his head for a helmet, even though it is worth a million dollars and means of his own ingenuity, is not in any mental condition to make a will.

The eccentric testator was Alexander Miller, ironworker, owner of the Vulcan Iron Works, in Brooklyn, in which he cut off his widow, Mrs. Mary Ella Miller, with $12,500, leaving the bulk of his estate to his son.

Before his death two years ago this month, Mr. Miller manifested his desire for conveniences by giving Baronnet dinner parties in his home and providing him with a feather bed in his undershirt. If this sounds like a legend, it is true.

As he opened each oyster he buried the shells at the portraits of his ancestors which decorated the wall. Whenever he wanted to eat, he would call his maid to bring him a chair and a saucer around the table.

St. Louis Man Comes to End in Strange Way.

Steals Sleeper's Shoes, Flees to River; Drowns.

Coronet's Jury Calls It Case of Plain Homicide.

(By DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) May 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.]—The drowning of Ferdinand Streyb—so identified by a name on his arm—was homicide, according to a verdict returned by a Coroner's jury today. Streyb drowned in the River Des Perce yesterday in sight of Patrolman Speckman, after he had run into the water to escape from Louis Stoeker, whose shoes he had stolen.

Streyb had removed his shoes and was taking a nap in Forest Park. Dennis Streyb, 15 years old, was fishing on the River Des Perce bank. He testified that he saw Streyb running toward him near the water's edge. Streyb was about twenty-five feet behind. Streyb dodged behind the boy, if he had seen a man running, and the boy pointed out the course Streyb had taken.

Streyb looked back and saw Stoeker following. He waded into the river as though to wade across, and Stoeker waded in after him. When Streyb reached the middle of the stream, he swam, but did not come up again. Patrolman Speckman was standing on the opposite bank.

Stoeker called to the policeman and said, "I believe that fellow is drowning," whereupon Streyb went down. Stoeker repeatedly tried to save the man, and once he got hold of him, but he slipped from his grasp.

Girl While Getting Food for Tramp Is Viciously Assaulted and Lynching May Result in Kansas.

(By DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) May 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fern Vincent, a girl of 13, was alone in the little board and tarpaper home of her widowed mother in a lonely part of Kansas City, Kan., when a tramp approached yesterday, and demanded food.

"We don't have very much to eat ourselves," she told him. "You can come in, and I'll try to find something for you."

The man entered the humble home, sat at a table in the kitchen while the child searched for food for him. When the girl returned to the room the man rose and struck her in the face. The child fell and the tramp struck her again. She kicked her as she lay on the floor. Then he picked her up and, cracking her as he carried her, took her to another room of the house. Neighbors later saw the tramp running away. The girl was found ten minutes after the tramp left.

When she regained consciousness she staggered from the house to a neighbor woman who called the police. Lt. Chief Zimmer and a motor car full of detectives arrived a search was made for the tramp, but he could not be found.

A posse of farmers are scouring the woods around the neighborhood with shotguns, and if they can find the assailant he probably will be lynched. The girl suffered greatly. Dr. J. F. Hassing, Police Surgeon, attended her. Her condition is dangerous but she will probably recover.

Ensign Puts Nine Thousand Miles to the Rear to Claim Portland Girl As His Bride.

(By DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

PORTLAND, ORE., May 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.]—The culmination of a romance which began four years ago in the University of Washington took place here last evening when Miss Hilda Helen Gumbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gumbert, was married to Ensign Ruthin Robert Smith, of the Aviation Monterey, now situated at Manila.

The wedding was at the home of the bride's parents, No. 660 Kearney street. The couple will spend their honeymoon in the Orient, sailing from San Francisco on the transport Buena on June 3. Ensign Smith will return to the Monterey on the expiration of his leave of absence in the early autumn.

It was while Ensign Smith was with the battleship Nebraska, was at the Bremerton Navy Yard and Miss Gumbert, a native of Seattle, and a native of Washington that the friendship began which ripened into love and this month brought the young naval officer 9000 miles across land and sea to claim his bride.

St. Louis Merchants Have Woman Arrested for Passing Bad Checks Signed "U. B. Ware".

(By DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) May 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.]—Mrs. Rose Hyland, 40, was held yesterday in high dudgeon yesterday to St. Louis from Evansville, Indiana, in custody of Patrolman Casey, following her arrest there on a charge of passing worthless checks on tradesmen here, signing them "U. B. Ware." She indignantly denied in the hold-over that she had knowingly cashed forged checks.

"I am not a swindler," she declared. "I am the victim of a swindler—U. B. Ware—who had a room in my flat and who gave me those checks. If the checks were forged, he forged them. I have silverware and money enough to cover all these checks and a lot of furniture and diamonds besides."

Even in the Evansville jail preceding Casey's arrival, Mrs. Abrams, a native of the south—stories about an orange grove, a ostrich farm and a string of "the stinkiest race horses in the country."

Mrs. Abrams, accused of mocking signing checks she passed here with a man whom tradesmen there found the check worthless, deciphered to read as "You Beware."

Chicagoan Got Job in Non-Union Bakery and Turned Weapon of Defense on His Foreman.

(By DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) CHICAGO, May 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.]—Peter J. P. Page, a non-union baker, Felts, Staszek, 21 years old, a union-labor man, obtained employment in the bakery shop of Louis Ratajewicz, No. 1228 West Fifteenth street, and was given a revolver by Martin Debski, the foreman, to protect himself against assaults by union men.

"I don't think she was intended for a quiet, domestic life and I filed a cross-complaint," said Jones.

With a cry of "now I've got you son," Staszek pointed the weapon at the foreman and fired three shots, but the latter grasped his arm and the bullets went into the ceiling. Then Debski seized a file and cut Staszek above the eye and stabbed him in the left arm. Staszek was arrested.

SET FIRE UNDER A BOY.

BUT HE STAMPED IT OUT.

(UNPUBLISHED PRESS DAY REPORT.)

LOCKPORT, N. Y., May 19.—A sensation has been caused here by the arrest of a 17-year-old school boy on a charge preferred by Avery Murphy, 14 years old, who says they tied him to a tree and attempted to burn him alive in Indian fashion. Murphy alleged that the accused boys proceeded to overpower him and bind his hands and feet. He was tied to a tree and the captors whooped around him like Indians. Finally, he says, they gathered paper and twigs and started a fire at his feet. He became hysterical and screamed, but succeeded after several desperate efforts in stamping out the fire beneath him and releasing himself after the older boys had left the scene.

LOUISIANA GUSHER OPENED.

New Well Giving 40,000 Barrels of Oil Per Day to be Capped so as Not to Bulk the Field.

(By DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) NEW ORLEANS, La., May 19.—(Exclusive Dispatch.)—The following Louisiana gushers have been capped so far, returning in high degree, and well yet developed in Louisiana, have been brought in at Vivian, near Shreveport, La., by the Producers Oil Company. It caught fire, but quickly was put under control. It will be capped, as many of the larger gushers have been so as to "bulk" the field. One Standard Oil well opened up a week ago giving 12,000 gallons, but was capped and allowed to give out only 5000. This field is most promising. The Standard has put huge investments in a pipe line, the field, the Producers and Gulf Refining Companies, showing their faith in this future.

Eleven men under arrest in New York yesterday and a head of state of gamblers, prostitutes and other scoundrels were the fruits of a series of raids on alleged gambling houses. The raids were the first since Dep't. Police Commissioner James J. McDevitt assumed charge of the detective bureau eight days ago. Arrests were made of the men under such warrant names as John Doorkeeper, John Dealer, and John Proprietor, and John Proprietor.

BUSINESS MEN BOOM ARIZONA.

Development Board Will Advertise Territory.

Twin Children Starved to Death in a Hut.

Great Demand For Khaki Cloth Along the Border.

(Special Correspondence of The Times.) BISHOP, Calif., May 18.—A Douglass has been concluded a meeting of the Arizona Development Board, an organization within which are included most of the commercial bodies of the Territory.

Delegates were present from Tucson, Prescott, Bisbee, Wilcox, Nogales, Clifton, El Paso, Phoenix, Florence, Tombstone, Morenci and Marathon, while the Chamber of Commerce of Douglas acted as host. Mayor McGuire welcomed the delegates. The programme of the session dwelt especially upon the advisability of advertising Arizona as a whole, with unity of effort and without prejudice to any particular section.

The development board was organized in Phoenix at the time of the last Territorial fair, and it was agreed that the third meeting should be in Tucson next fall, since the largest possible attendance can be gathered with the least effort.

The delegates were taken to the scene of trouble across the border in Agua Prieta, where shown the mines at Bisbee, were tendered several formal dinners and otherwise kept busy during the time that could be spared from the coming three days.

There seems to be a possibility that the direct Territorial road between Tucson and Douglas, which now lies about five miles away, may be routed around and by way of St. David and Tombstone and this city. There has been deep protest in this place against being led to one of the most notorious sections of the country, and the miners seem bent on favoring the longer route, taking in the places named, not only for their benefit, but in order to save the country the cost that now is devoted to the upkeep of the county road north of this point.

TO MORE DIRECT ROUTE.

The protest against the location made in the local press included an attack upon Phoenix as being instrumental in the creation of the trouble.

The delegates were taken to the scene of trouble across the border in Agua Prieta, where shown the mines at Bisbee, were tendered several formal dinners and otherwise kept busy during the time that could be spared from the coming three days.

There was none of the grand stand, circus demonstration about the little country, but the chief interest of the section was the carnival.

The Queen of the carnival by popular vote is a handsome young woman, with masses of blonde hair and a roseleaf complexion. In robes which were heavy with gold lace and glittering with jewels, a robe which was very becoming to her, she was the Queen of the Portola, Queen Bertha was a true rose Queen.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

CENTER FIRE ON SCHOOL BOARD.

Unsanitary Condition of Buildings Is Alleged.

Mayor Thum Makes a Trip of Investigation.

Will Try to Have Law Declared Void.

(Office of The Times, 828 Raymond avenue.) PARADENA, May 20.—The probe of Mayor Thum into the sanitary condition of some of the city school buildings has a humorous side as well as a serious side, something bordering on a whitewashing attack.

The other day the Board of Education in its eagerness to disentangle itself and stop prevalent rumors which would not down exposed its hand in an effort to get under cover.

Some days ago members of the Board of Education approached Mayor Thum in his private office and there unbosomed to him that certain complaints had come in that water closets in certain school buildings were not sanitary. It was news to the new Mayor and he at once agreed to accompany him on a visit to McKinley and high schools in a tour of inspection.

Mayor Thum got the idea that he was on a whitewashing expedition and expected, on the statements of the board members, to give them a clear bill of lading. He was happy on the road out, though, that he could not do for the Board of Education, but stung him to think it was working.

The Board of Education, thoughtfully, started something. The Mayor received it. Then he thought again and every time he got down to real hard thinking he would imagine he smelled the Dutch saloon odor.

The Mayor started to looking into the laws and found that the toilets of both schools are rank violation of the city ordinance in permitting soap to be used. The Board of Education, thoughtfully, started something. The Mayor received it. Then he thought again and every time he got down to real hard thinking he would imagine he smelled the Dutch saloon odor.

Then a trip was made to the High School and it is said similar findings prevailed. Mayor Thum is not talkative, but stung him to think it was working.

Now a trip was made to the High School and it is said similar findings prevailed. Mayor Thum is not talkative, but stung him to think it was working.

The Board of Education, thoughtfully, started something. The Mayor received it. Then he thought again and every time he got down to real hard thinking he would imagine he smelled the Dutch saloon odor.

Now Mayor Thum has declared that he won't put off; the heat is on him to do something or if the Board of Education does not comply with the city ordinances he will take the matter in charge himself and see that the city's sanitary regulations are lived up to.

MAY AFFECT ELECTION. These unsanitary conditions coming up just on the eve of the approaching election for two new members of the Board of Education, makes a demand what action things in the first place, should be taken and still is a demand in many sections of the city for a first-class physician, one who is thoroughly conversant with the subject and hygienic in his methods. The Board of Education, at this time, is another element opposed to the Board of Education regarding the unsanitary condition it is passed with the statement that it is the fault of the city and vice versa.

Now Mayor Thum has declared that he won't put off; the heat is on him to do something or if the Board of Education does not comply with the city ordinances he will take the matter in charge himself and see that the city's sanitary regulations are lived up to.

DRIVE FOR PUPILS. This anti-medical measure has been completed for the last few days by the King's Daughters of the Silver Cross Circle. Saturday afternoon and evening, at the home of Mrs. George Patterson, No. 1707 Oak street, the project to go toward the benefit of the poor in Los Angeles, will be held. The project will be presided over by the members. There is another element opposed to the Board of Education, it is an old school physician. It is known as the Anti-Vaccination League, which is a group of parents who oppose vaccination among school children. The members of this league feel that if a physician gets on the board that all children should be vaccinated before entering school.

But that is not all the objection. There is a medical man. There is a growing colony of out-of-door athletes who are doing everything out doors. They howl against the old rules of the doctors and have intimated they will fight a medical representative on the board.

Said a local citizen last night: "The Board of Education certainly needs a good doctor on it. One is enough. He could be detailed to look out for the sanitation and hygiene of school children should be one of the vital matters. Nature is so advantageous here in Pasadena that, with ordinary precaution, there should be no recourse to these rumors. The family should be at once corrected and the rumors stopped."

The latest candidate to get into the field for a membership on the Board of Education is a wealthy and a strong man, who is at present collector for the Home Telephone Company. He has made a public statement in which he says he is ideally fitted for the position in fact he has a lot of good points in his favor according to his own estimation of himself. Nor is anyone ready to be

THEY GET GOLD RAZORS.

When King C. Gillette, safety razor manufacturer, left the Alexandria about a month ago for his eastern home, he carried with him the full name of every clerk at the Alexandria, in addition to the names of the head boys and a few other dignitaries about the place. They had given him a full measure of attention and when, after a week's absence, a beautiful gold safety razor, monogrammed on all the parts and with full name deeply set into the case, arrived for the head boy, everyone felt happy.

Weeks passed and as no more razors arrived, some of the clerks voted the thing a good joke on themselves and for a week King C. Gillette, yesterday afternoon, a large package was express for Mall Clerk Johnson.

Signaling it, he broke the seal and took out a collection of parcels. Each contained a razor, each razor was of gold, bearing the monogram in script of heavy design, for each of the clerks.

COUNTERFEITING CHARGE.

Complaints charging Gencindino Valenzuela and U. D. Gutierrez with manufacturing and having in their possession bogus coins, were filed yesterday in the Federal Court by Special Service Officer George H. Scott.

The main witness was Saturday, the charge of passing spurious coins in local stores. The officers found their men at No. 317 South Main street. Here they also discovered a quantity of spurious half dollars. It was also discovered that the counterfeiting plant was at Beaumont. At this place the officers found the molds and other incriminating paraphernalia.

HE WANTS THE MONEY.

M. J. Johnson, acting for Montgomery Johnson, a minor, filed a complaint yesterday in the Juvenile Court, in which he asked to recover $14,000, alleged to have been paid by the boy to the Los Angeles Western Railway Company, with offices in the Chamber of Commerce building, for 200 shares of stock. The boy stated that his father demanded the money of W. H. Carlson, president of the company, tendering the stock in exchange, and that he has been refused.

DRUG STORE WHISKY ARREST.

Frank L. Orr, proprietor of a drug store at No. 1409 West Sixteenth street, was arrested last night on the charge of selling whisky to patrons not possessing a physician's prescription. According to the officers Orr maintained a young distillery in the rear of his store, and doled out the fluid to almost anyone who had the price. He deposited $100 cash daily to insure his appearance this morning in Police Judge Chambers' court.

STRONG ON DOLLARS.

Harry Shimp, a young man whose specialty is a bundle of dollars between his fingers, was brought from San Bernardino yesterday on a charge of failure to provide for his family. He was arrested by Justice Summerfield on his own recognizance and his examination was set for June 6.

QUEEN CHOSEN.

COLTON, May 19.—After a most spirited campaign, in which hundreds of dollars were spent by the friends of the contestants, the queen of the carnival, the contest came to a conclusion tonight, and Miss Lena Bradley was found to be the winner by a safe majority. The vote cast for the queen was as follows: Miss Bradley, 81,782; Miss Mamie Paul, 56,560; Miss Daisy Davenport, 52,225; Miss Ethel Hatchett, 26,192; Miss Clara Sisson, 11,171; Miss Anna Bostwick, 2,150.

CAUSE of quarrel as old as civilization, that of one neighbor who wants to keep a garden and of another who wants to have a fence resulted in a community sensation yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock when Mrs. A. L. Brashear, No. 119 North Johnson street, led John Morris, a well-to-do mining man by the nap of his neck from her doorstep to the pavement, and knocked him down twice with her strong left arm, while she stood over him, right foot firmly planted between his feet with a revolver, of which she is so perfect a master that she can pick the head from a chicken two shots out of three.

Mrs. Brashear, after asserting the innocence of her chickens, ordered Morris from her place. She then locked and bolted, and made motion toward leaving. Stepping into her bedroom she got her revolver, and returning to the porch she fired, hitting Morris in the head. Morris adjured and begged the previous morning that she can pick the head from a chicken two shots out of three.

At the sound of the first shot, Pausing his back yard as their favorite rendezvous.

Mrs. Brashear returned with spirit that her chickens always play in their own back yard. She says Morris wasn't sober. That Morris was affected to a degree by something more than the heat is admitted by the family of Patrolmen Edward and White.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Los Angeles' new Exposition Park is without a suitable front lawn, and it may cost the municipality a quarter of a million dollars to provide the grounds with a proper approach.

Efforts to convince the Mayor that the new light rates are equitable failed yesterday, and he says the Council must hold a hearing for the benefit of the public.

The Board of Public Works and the Public Service Commission join in opposing all annexation projects until the question of water distribution is settled.

Two suits against the Standard Oil Company were yesterday compromised and dismissed, with the result that the company paid over in cash $15,000 to compensate a small boy for injuries he suffered when run over by a wagon.

Probate having proved a dismal failure in the case of F. N. Mitchell, Judge Willis yesterday sent him to prison for four years.

MAYOR'S BOUT WITH SCIENCE.

LIGHT RATES CONFAR FAILS TO CONVINCE HIS HONOR.

Board of Public Utilities tries to show that its scientific curve is the real thing and the Mayor refuses to change his mind. Objections filed.

Science—curved science—entered the Mayor's chambers yesterday and tried to subjugate His Honor to obedience to the new rates for electric light. Science was represented by J. M. Hunter of the Board of Public Utilities, who endorsed the curved rates. E. S. Scattergood, who helped discover the curve; and Leslie R. Hewitt, special counsel, who seems to be the pacifier between science and His Honor. Science struck a blow and a half with the Mayor. He called Councilman Betkouski to his aid. Science hampered them half-Nelsoned them and beat them over several times, but could not get them off their shoulders pinned on the mat.

In the end the Mayor emerged with the site of a Trojan horse. "Well, I have got my man made," said he.

The Lissner board made a great effort to justify its new rate schedule. Among other things Scattergood brought up the subject of science. It is the first public appearance of that interesting diagram. But it isn't a parabola. It is a long, skinny curve and represents the curve of last year's rates, sort of a double-cross, as it were. It crosses once at ten kilowatt hours, and again at seventy-five. This is the curve endorsed by the Mayor and Betkouski that the rates between ten and seventy, though higher, are just and equitable.

The products of the same revenue for the consumers, said they.

"Well, if it makes no difference to the companies who now continue the old rates, why don't we let science split up for a second bout."

Scattergood explained that there are now, under the 7-cent rate, 20 per cent of the consumers paying rates of 11 cents. By the new schedule those below $1—the 20 per cent—get a reduction of 20 cents on the average. Between the ten and class of the new schedule and the seventy-hour class are 60 per cent of the consumers. They are the ones who get an average increase of 20 cents on each bill. The new schedule beyond the seventy hours represents 10 per cent who also get a reduction, and they do not exceed 50 cents.

"The reduction in the class below the present $1 minimum and the increase of the 60 per cent between the new seven-hour class and the new schedule realize the savings of the consumers. They are the ones who get an average increase of 20 cents on each bill. The new schedule need not necessarily deprecate any steps looking toward annexation."

TAX RATE ALARM.

FIGURES ARE CLIMBING.

A new calamity is facing the Good Government administration and Council. The light rates are likely to pale into insignificance or at least some candle power, if the City Auditorium is to be believed.

He has announced that a rate of $1.10 is necessary.

The thirty per cent is reported to include the little bungalow house-holders who have been paying for what they didn't get under the present scheme.

The conference resulted in nothing except the Mayor's announcement that he hadn't changed his mind. Before it began the Mayor received the Allianc. I. L. Lewis, secretary of the League of Justice, who was impatient to file objections against the new rates. The Mayor read his protest and Warren read his. Then the Mayor was admitted to the conference between the Mayor and the utility officials.

In the end, Warren says the rates are unfair, unjust and against public policy in that they require additional compensation amounting to $25,000 to the companies, four-fifths of which will be paid by the consumers. He also charges that the meter rental of 25 cents is disproportionate and besides all connection is included in the plant value and operating expense.

He also alleges that the power rates are of benefit only to the large consumers. Also, the same rates $1.10 for gas at San Pedro is excessive and unjust and that the 90-cent rate for the rest of the city is ample for the harbor cities.

This is the first protest on gas rates, though the Mayor has received many complaints from the harbor cities.

Warren was advised that his filing was premature, but he said he will take no chances. The charter says objection shall be filed after five days publication. Warren says he will file again if necessary.

The Mayor announced yesterday that he had received a complaint from the Los Angeles Brick Company that the new rates for power increase his bill a month without apparent reason. These figures were presented to the scientific group yesterday afternoon and were disputed. The Mayor will ask for further information.

No answer to the Mayor's seven questions was sent by the Board of Public Utilities yesterday. It might as well remain. The Mayor thought of a number of additional questions concerning the electric rates which he sent to the board. The answers will not come at once. The Mayor says he will wait for the power schedule as complainant from consumers indicate that similar discrepancies to those of the light schedules have been found.

"In a short time I will see the Mayor," the public will have the whole facts because this matter must go to the Council."

A plan to escape was offered by the Mayor yesterday. He suggested adoption of the present rates, with a maximum of 7 cents and a reduction of the minimum charge from $1 to 50 cents. He says it is not tied to this compromise, but is advised that it is fair and indisputable.

In the strenuous situation Scattergood and Hunter have been left alone to face the clamor against the rates. N. D. Darlington, another member of the board, left the city yesterday. George Lissner is in England, one of the leading charter experts. Of the Board of Engineers that found the curve and made the rates Scattergood is the only one tangible. Durand has returned to New York with his $2500 fee.

Scattergood protests against the information that there has been any purpose to help the companies, bright or otherwise. He says the first time, a scientific distribution of the cost and it is possible to maintain this scientific equitability in the future. He says he is indifferent to the new rates, but he is in complete agreement with the rates advised but he says there was no motive present in the making of them except justice to the public.

The Board of Public Works and the Public Service Commission join in opposing all annexation projects until the question of water distribution is settled.

Two suits against the Standard Oil Company were yesterday compromised and dismissed, with the result that the company paid over in cash $15,000 to compensate a small boy for injuries he suffered when run over by a wagon.

NO ANNEXATIONS.

BOARDERS FIX POLICY.

The exact attitude of the Board of Service Commissioners of the Board of Public Works and the City Attorney toward all annexations of new territory to the city, under any conditions, was made known yesterday when the Board of Public Works adopted a resolution answering the agreement of all at the joint conference last week. This resolution was ordered transmitted to the Council.

This is the policy laid down by the officers in answer to the Council's request for advice on annexation and what to do.

First, that they earnestly advise against the annexation of any territory to the City of Los Angeles in all cases in which the new rates proposed for the inhabitants of that territory will not be bonded indebtedness of the City of Los Angeles.

That it is at present impracticable to determine the extent to which such bonded indebtedness should be incurred by the particular territory covered by the petition in question, or to formulate general plans for the same.

Second, that they earnestly advise against the annexation of any territory to the City of Los Angeles in all cases in which the new rates proposed for the inhabitants of that territory will not be bonded indebtedness of the City of Los Angeles.

Third, that they earnestly advise against the annexation of any territory to the City of Los Angeles in all cases in which the new rates proposed for the inhabitants of that territory will not be bonded indebtedness of the City of Los Angeles.

Fourth, that they earnestly advise against the annexation of any territory to the City of Los Angeles in all cases in which the new rates proposed for the inhabitants of that territory will not be bonded indebtedness of the City of Los Angeles.

Fifth, that they earnestly advise against the annexation of any territory to the City of Los Angeles in all cases in which the new rates proposed for the inhabitants of that territory will not be bonded indebtedness of the City of Los Angeles.

Sixth, that they earnestly advise against the annexation of any territory to the City of Los Angeles in all cases in which the new rates proposed for the inhabitants of that territory will not be bonded indebtedness of the City of Los Angeles.

Seventh, that they earnestly advise against the annexation of any territory to the City of Los Angeles in all cases in which the new rates proposed for the inhabitants of that territory will not be bonded indebtedness of the City of Los Angeles.

Eighth, that they earnestly advise against the annexation of any territory to the City of Los Angeles in all cases in which the new rates proposed for the inhabitants of that territory will not be bonded indebtedness of the City of Los Angeles.

Ninth, that they earnestly advise against the annexation of any territory to the City of Los Angeles in all cases in which the new rates proposed for the inhabitants of that territory will not be bonded indebtedness of the City of Los Angeles.

Tenth, that they earnestly advise against the annexation of any territory to the City of Los Angeles in all cases in which the new rates proposed for the inhabitants of that territory will not be bonded indebtedness of the City of Los Angeles.

Eleventh, that they earnestly advise against the annexation of any territory to the City of Los Angeles in all cases in which the new rates proposed for the inhabitants of that territory will not be bonded indebtedness of the City of Los Angeles.

Twelfth, that they earnestly advise against the annexation of any territory to the City of Los Angeles in all cases in which the new rates proposed for the inhabitants of that territory will not be bonded indebtedness of the City of Los Angeles.

Thirteenth, that they earnestly advise against the annexation of any territory to the City of Los Angeles in all cases in which the new rates proposed for the inhabitants of that territory will not be bonded indebtedness of the City of Los Angeles.

Fourteenth, that they earnestly advise against the annexation of any territory to the City of Los Angeles in all cases in which the new rates proposed for the inhabitants of that territory will not be bonded indebtedness of the City of Los Angeles.

Fifteenth, that they earnestly advise against the annexation of any territory to the City of Los Angeles in all cases in which the new rates proposed for the inhabitants of that territory will not be bonded indebtedness of the City of Los Angeles.

Sixteenth, that they earnestly advise against the annexation of any territory to the City of Los Angeles in all cases in which the new rates proposed for the inhabitants of that territory will not be bonded indebtedness of the City of Los Angeles.

Seventeenth, that they earnestly advise against the annexation of any territory to the City of Los Angeles in all cases in which the new rates proposed for the inhabitants of that territory will not be bonded indebtedness of the City of Los Angeles.

Eighteenth, that they earnestly advise against the annexation of any territory to the City of Los Angeles in all cases in which the new rates proposed for the inhabitants of that territory will not be bonded indebtedness of the City of Los Angeles.

Nineteenth, that they earnestly advise against the annexation of any territory to the City of Los Angeles in all cases in which the new rates proposed for the inhabitants of that territory will not be bonded indebtedness of the City of Los Angeles.

Twenty, that they earnestly advise against the annexation of any territory to the City of Los Angeles in all cases in which the new rates proposed for the inhabitants of that territory will not be bonded indebtedness of the City of Los Angeles.

Twenty-one, that they earnestly advise against the annexation of any territory to the City of Los Angeles in all cases in which the new rates proposed for the inhabitants of that territory will not be bonded indebtedness of the City of Los Angeles.

Twenty-two, that they earnestly advise against the annexation of any territory to the City of Los Angeles in all cases in which the new rates proposed for the inhabitants of that territory will not be bonded indebtedness of the City of Los Angeles.

Twenty-three, that they earnestly advise against the annexation of any territory to the City of Los Angeles in all cases in which the new rates proposed for the inhabitants of that territory will not be bonded indebtedness of the City of Los Angeles.

GOING AND COMING.

A 15-year-old Los Angeles girl has galloped away from home twice this week endeavoring to get married. This is nothing to the speed she will make endeavoring to get divorced.

GOING UP.

Jack Johnson, having sampled many of the jails of the country, is about to take to aviation and we may escape further infliction if the heavier-than-air machine understands its business.

LITTLE BUSINESS.

Small business means small towns, small shops, small number of wage-earners, small pay and little prosperity. Big business means big shops, big stores, big crowds of workers and spenders, big wages and a big city growing bigger every day.

OUT OF CHOICE.

The month of May is slipping into the great sea of time. It is not hurried into June by a ruthless destiny or a relentless fate. It is going softly out of a great joy. Most of us do a great many more things out of choice than out of necessity. We only think we are compelled to do them.

HAS NO OTHER KIND.

The paragraph going the rounds of the press that the Congressional Record has no advertising section may be all right from the point of humor, but it isn't true. As the publication is employed to boom certain long-winded Congressmen, we are of the opinion that it has no other kind.

HOW THEY LOST.

The managers of the Los Angeles baseball team have discovered, after much investigation, that they failed to land the championship of the Pacific Coast League last season by dropping too many games. They have not made a very good beginning this year, but it is a long time until next November. More power to them!

CHANCE FOR A WALKING DELEGATE.

The Mexican rebels are not satisfied with the proposed terms of peace and they are clamoring for their pay. The walking delegate ought to be able to shake down the motley crew down in Mexico under these circumstances. Where's Sam? Gompers? Sam ought to be there to collect a per cent. "for the cause."

MILLIONAIRES DISAPPEARING.

It is estimated that not less than $50,000,000 worth of United States Senators disappeared by the result of the last election and their successors have fallen short by a good deal of the monetary standard fixed by the old body. Since 1900 the Senate has been radically changed in personnel; since 1905 no less than sixty new members have been elected. It goes without saying that the present body cannot compare with the ripe experience of its predecessors. The body, however, can no longer be called a "millionaires' club."

THE PROMISE.

Every now and then somebody advertises that persons with a little money to invest may earn from $5 to $15 a day by working a pleasant side line during their leisure hours. As improbable as these advertisements usually are and often as they result in straight swindles, hundreds of persons respond and are fleeced either of time or money, and usually of both. The reason back of it is that there is a richness about the leisure of all persons that goes to waste and the conscience of us all holds us in constant reproval. This remorse of moments wasted when they might be directed in such a way as to brighten the world with the flower of our genius turns people into the directions of foolish investment as a sort of self-condemnation. Some of us are such thieves of our own opportunity and joy that we utterly miss the promise to the thief, "This day shalt thou be with me in Paradise."

BRYAN'S FLOP.

Billy Boy has flopped again. And this time, bless his heart, he has flopped on the right side. All his life he has been in favor of free wool. Who that has ever heard him discourse on tariff intricacies will be likely to forget his passionate appeal in favor of cheap undershirts, cheap blankets and cheap overcoat? "Shall the poor of our country," he asked in his great speech at the town of Stigaree in Kansas, "arise shivering from their inadequately-blankedeted beds and be compelled to face the icy blasts of winter as they journey to the corner grocery for their matinial drama, with shirts and breeches made of cotton, because the millionaire sheep owners of the ultimate West demand for their sheep shearings are inordinate prices? Shall we not rather welcome to our ports free of duty the wool of Australia and the Argentine? Shall we not rather favor the policy of the G-g-great Democratic party and bid foreign fleecees welcome to our shores?"

Protest, change! Now, in effect, he says: "Let the woolen industry thrive. It is the backbone of our land. At the agricultural fairs where I have been lecturing for years at five hundred per I have looked into the honest faces of the rams and ewes. Their plaintive bleats have touched my heart and changed my political principles. I am for protection to the sheep, protection to those who own the sheep, and protection to the wayfaring manufacturers who spin the wool of the sheep. Paralyzed by the voice that would call for free wool—Joe Bailey was damned."

ANOTHER PINCHOT BOTCH.
 One of the strongholds of forest conservation is the proposition that the destruction of large areas of forest lessens the rainfall and makes the rivers unnavigable and the lands arid. This argument has been advanced to secure forest reservations in localities where there were no navigable streams to protect, and where the excessive rainfall made swamps of the land. The Weeks bill, recently enacted by Congress, appropriates $11,000,000 for the purchase and conversion to the care of the Forest Reserve Service of lands in the White Mountain and Appalachian ranges. When this bill was before Congress there was added to it a clause which reads:

"Provided, that before any lands are purchased by the National Forest Reservation Commission said lands shall be examined by the Geological Survey and a report made to the Secretary of Agriculture showing that the control of such lands will promote or protect the navigation of streams on whose watersheds they lie."

Dr. George Otis Smith, the director of the Geological Survey, has reported that the streams of the section supposed to be benefited by the bill are by no means navigable, and that the swamp lands do not really need to be protected from becoming arid wastes. Hence no purchase, no reservation, no graft!

The owners of timbered lands in the section proposed to be reserved, which lands are so inaccessible that they could not be sold for 10 cents an acre for any purpose, had expected to sell their holdings to the United States for $16 an acre. The action of Director Smith has disappointed and enraged them.

It is fortunate for the strong box of the United States that Pinchot is no longer in office. Else between his according collegiate educations at the government expense to several hundred deputy forest rangers and buying up millions of acres of worthless mountain land he would have left the United States Treasury as bare as a picked bird.

GOMPERZ'S LATEST.

The attempt of the American Federation of Labor to include government employees within its organization by soliciting those in the government service to form unions which should be under the jurisdiction, and therefore subject to the orders, of the national organization of which Gompers is the head is as remarkable a specimen of human impudence as was ever presented. If the government of the United States should consent to allow the Federation of Labor to fix the wages and the hours of labor of its employees and add to this the requirement of the closed shop so that no government employee would be permitted to perform his duties, if a clerk, not a member of the union, should attempt to work in the same office or department, it would abrogate its functions, and Gompers, instead of Taft, would control the government services. We might look, in such event, for the establishment of such conditions as recently prevailed in France.

"Whom the gods wish to destroy they first make mad," and if the closed-shop victims of the labor leaders shall attempt to carry out their project they will surely have earned incarceration in a lunatic asylum. If the clerks in the Department of the Interior should leave their desks and go out on strike, for instance, it would not take more than a day to fill their places, and if the strikers attempted to molest the new men they would ascertain at once that the arm of Uncle Sam is a good deal stronger than that of any municipal or State authority. The power that crushed the rebellion would make short work of a few hundred or a few thousand "strikers." It would speedily fill the jails with them, and murder and dynamiting would be punished with hanging so speedily that no foolish women would have a chance to carry bouquets of flowers to those in jail. If it were not for the loss to the deflated victims one could almost wish that the Gompers syndicate of lunatics would really attempt to enforce closed-shop tactics at Washington. The result might serve as an object lesson in other localities.

One deplorable feature of the situation is that a paper that was once strong—the New York Tribune—should so far fallow in the dirt as to treat the idea with considerateness and present arguments in its editorial column addressed to the Gompers gang, really beseeching them not to "conspire for the paralyzing of governmental functions and the overthrow of the republic." The Tribune says in its editorial column: "It is quite clear that that might practically, though involuntarily, be the effect of incorporation of the civil service in the Federation of Labor."

"It would be an ominous thing for this Union," says the Tribune, "and an intolerable thing for the public welfare, to have all the letter carriers, for example, go on strike because of a disagreement over wages in the shop in which their uniforms were made; or to have the railroad postal clerks, or any other numerous class of government employees, refuse to work in order to bring pressure for shorter hours of labor to bear upon some manufacturer. Yet precisely such things would be likely to happen under such an affiliation, unless the federation renounced some of its fundamental principles."

What a spectacle for gods and men. A leading New York City journal arguing the point with Gompers and beseeching him "not to direct the paralyzing of governmental functions and the overthrow of the republic!"

JOHN HAYS HAMMOND CRITICISED.
 Our old friend, William T. Stead, he of the lengthy goose quill, the champion of spooks and socialists, has blown a blast of protest across the Atlantic against the appointment of John Hays Hammond as special representative of the American people at the coronation of George V of England. He objects chiefly to the celebrated mining man because, he alleges, that in conjunction with Cecil Rhodes, Dr. Jameson and the Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, he was responsible for the Boer War. Although to the rest of the world that war is now a closed chapter of history, to William Stead it is still an open and a gaping wound.

The American treatment of Great Britain, during that period of prolonged hostilities, is another cause of awakened discontent with the Grub street pen-driver. It is not our lack of sympathy with the early British reverses which perturbs his editorial soul—there, indeed, he is in perfect accord with us—but the quality of the mules which we sold to the British War Office. From the attitude of John Hays Hammond, so says the seer, the empire-grabbers received too much encouragement; from the conduct of the Missouri mules the Boers gained too many victories. He does not grudge the Boers their triumphs, but regrets the British money which went into the pockets of the Missouri farmers. He concludes by declaring that the presence of the instigator of the "Jameson raid" at the coronation of the head of the successful South African plunders is a distinct insult to Gen. Louis Botha.

Now let us see what the real heroes of the South African imbroglio think about the matter. Gen. Botha, soldier, statesman, patriot, the great central figure in South Africa of today, has taken a very different attitude from that of Mr. Socialist Stead. His old antagonist, associated with Hammond in his supposed villainies, Dr. Jameson, the head of the historic raid, is now the trusted colleague and friend of the old Boer fighter. He has, even as Premier of South Africa, recommended this wicked raider to the British King for colonial honors. Like a truly great man, Gen. Botha is willing to see the virtues in his former enemy. But of course Stay-at-Home-and-Criticize Stead can know nothing of—

"The keen joy that warriors feel
In foemen worthy of their steel."

John Hays Hammond, too, will doubtless receive a warm welcome from the Boer commander, who, when he laid down his sword, was prepared to stand loyally by the peace pact. It is not given to the William Steads of the world to read the hearts of such heroes as Louis Botha, Joseph Chamberlain, another thorn in the flesh of Little William, has been triumphantly vindicated from the charges of self-seeking with which he was spattered during the progress of the war. In fact no war was ever concluded with so much satisfaction to both sides engaged in the quarrel as was the bitter struggle in South Africa.

For Stead to try and stir up the dead ashes of former hatreds by drawing attention to the part which John Hays Hammond played in that history-making epoch is like a child seeking to reconstruct a vanished soap bubble from the viewless air. Probably the great South African statesman will smoke a pipe of peace with the bright American engineer during their temporary meeting in the British metropolis, while over a mug of brown October ale they spin soldiers' yarns of those exciting days of yore, and join perhaps in a hearty laugh at the feverish protests in the recent Welsh coal strikes.

THE AIR BRAKES.

With the increasing popularity of aviation comes a fine new brand of bungee steering. So well is it working that people who hold their pocketbooks with both hands if a promoter mentioned oil to them and who would call for the police if a mining venture were suggested, are all but breaking their silly necks to buy stock in some of a dozen fake or impractical aerial navigation concerns. One of these companies was recently exploited and exploded at San Diego with the result that the promoter of the airship industry left to the night, taking with him at least $75,000 of good San Diego money and leaving behind his numerous unpaid bills, including the rent on extravagantly handsome furniture which served to make a suite of five fashionable rooms sufficiently lustrous to overawe the intrepid victims of the air-machine gold-brick scheme.

At San Francisco the cupidity of the public was preyed upon monstrously by one of these fake promoters. The gentleman advertised that he had a machine that was certain to win a $50,000 prize at the next aviation meet in the northern city and he proposed to pay five dollars for one as the first year's dividends on the investment. Suckers rushed into this man's net by the school and the fishing was still fine when he sailed for other seas. Needless to say he sailed by night and he may be sailing still, as the officers have not been able to apprehend him.

It is said that concern that have impractical machines and others that have no machines at all are operating out of Los Angeles, but they have been too clever to use the United States mails, and thus far have es-

EDUCATIONAL DRIFT.

Dr. Felix Adler.

Dr. Felix Adler, in an address before the Schoolmasters' Association of New York recently, spoke of the futility of the attempt to teach ethics as a separate study in secondary schools.

"The study of ethics," said Dr. Adler, "must be interwoven with all other study. It must be made a part of the entire life of the child. Moral lessons can be drawn from most phases of the school routine. Summarizing from this point of view, Dr. Adler stated his belief that emphasis should be laid during the first year in the high school upon the true meaning of liberty and the necessity for controlling oneself in order not to infringe upon the rights of others; during the second year the relations between parents and children should be reviewed as a part of the obligations of parenthood; the obligations of friendship and the ideal self-sacrifice during the third year and the remote social relations should be presented during the final year of preparation for college or university work.

A little thought, a little observation, upon matters of every-day occurrence, and some experience in educational lines should be sufficient to convince any canary person the value of Dr. Adler's suggestion, says the Portland Oregonian. It can scarcely be doubted that the course indicated would bring students up to their entrance into college with a well-defined sense of personal liberty and individual rights that would dispose of having, the necessity of self-control in order that the rights of others might not be infringed upon, a proper estimate of the sacrifices that are often made by others in order to secure the welfare of higher education for their sons and daughters, and of the more remote social relations that are a part of college life, especially in co-educational institutions.

A revision of the course of study that would include the ideas of Dr. Adler could hardly fail, as the years go on, to correct the lack of ethical training so noticeable in the rank and file of the young people of today.

Lehigh University has a department of Physical Education, and President Henry Sturgis Dinker is very proud of it. It is known as the conference department, and was devised to help lagging students, to save them dropping out or paying large sums for coaching.

Several members of the faculty make up the department, and they hold evening sessions for consultation with students to meet their needs. Advantages of the system point out that the student gets help from a competent teacher, whose idea is not merely to prepare him for an examination, but to coach him on until he can work unassisted.

There is a legitimate and dependable line of airmanship manufacture, but it does not guarantee enormous profits. A good airmail can be made for $500 and an aeroplane of the most superior make can be placed upon the market for $1000. The machine in which a local amateur fell to his death here last Wednesday cost that unfortunate young man $3000, but it was probably the finest machine from the standpoint of mechanism available.

The recognized injurious influence of commercialism upon educational standards gives the Chinese editor a test for a discussion of the subject in the Atlantic Monthly. "The rough hand of commercialism," he says, "too soon strips off the illusions of life when our old leaves academic shades and forthwith becomes a disregarded, dispensable factor in the world's work. Therefore let every watch be set to keep the influence of commercialism out of the schoolroom, for it will be the schoolroom that will be the best instrument of spreading liberal education. It is known that several of the larger concerns have experts in their factories at work upon aeroplane motors, but none of them care to be the first to enter the field—which at present promises so little.

THE ORDER OF THE BATH.

The Coal Mines Bill is about to come before the British Parliament for its second reading and one of its provisions is for compulsory baths for miners, the bathrooms to be provided by the colliery owners.

Mr. Henry Davies, director of mining instruction, is vehemently urging the passing of this clause as "greatly conducing to the comfort and cleanliness of the miners, both in their work and in their homes."

But this is open to considerable argument. To begin with, there is a widespread and deep-seated prejudice against washing their backs amongst the English miners on the score that it is weakening, and many a back has been guiltless of dampness of any kind, other than perspiration, since the day it first saw light in this treacherous world.

A number of large British factories have tried the experiment of inculcating the doubtful delight of cleanliness in their employees by providing bathrooms and have encountered a most discouraging lack of gratitude.

The London Times is moved to a leading article on the subject and concludes its weighty consideration of this most controversial clause with the words "assuming that cleanliness is desirable." And, after all, is it? Those English miners are a robust crowd judging from their achievements in the recent Welsh coal strikes.

WOODROW WILSON'S LIST OF TROPHIES.

Here are the innovations which New Jersey owes to Gov. Wilson:

A public utilities law, fixing the responsibility of officers of corporations for all violations, and vesting power in a commission to make rates and physical valuation of public service companies.

Workmen's compensation law, providing for automatic payments for injuries or loss of life, in all industries, and doing away with the old fellow-servant responsibility of America.

PROMINENT CHAUFFEUR PURCHASES NEW ENGER TOURER.

Well-known Woman Driver Takes Her Car Over Country Roads at High Speed and Enters Lists With Number of Machines Which She Will Use for Her Tour.

Mrs. Willis E. Hutchinson, wife of a well-known dentist and an enthusiastic motorist, has added to her string of cars having this week purchased an Enger "pump" tourer. The car has two demonstrations of the day by local firm. Mrs. Hutchinson having become impressed with the easy manner in which the high-powered car could be controlled. The car is of a gray shade now becoming so popular because of the ease with which it can be driven, the speed and the cleanliness and is equipped with the Monroe horn as well as other accessories, including electric lights on side and rear. Altogether it presents a striking appearance.

Assistant Secretary Trout got up a trap shoot on Saturday night. Mallory regretted not being able to take in the local shoot and expected to stretch a point for it if possible. His unfailing good nature made him many friends during his stay.

Assistant Secretary Trout got up a trap shoot on Saturday night. Mallory regretted not being able to take in the local shoot and expected to stretch a point for it if possible. His unfailing good nature made him many friends during his stay.

Asst. Secy. Trout was for the day that same night and as it happened the grounds were deserted at noon he had all his trouble for nothing. There will be "eats" in sufficient quantity to satisfy the average trap shooter.

Mr. Enger is another to join the army of Enger drivers. This week he sides with O. E. Enger, who established recently and the sale was made through Mr. Symonds, who gave the best sugar-coated demonstration of the utility of the car on a recent trip to that section.

Wagner came to Los Angeles Thursday evening and having had time to get used to the mystery of the car to be sold to him, he took it to O. E. Enger's shop in Oxnard, where an agent for the Enger was established recently and the sale was made through Mr. Symonds, who gave the best sugar-coated demonstration of the utility of the car on a recent trip to that section.

The Enger drive by the way.

Battle Stories of The Civil War.

The War Day by Day Fifty Years Ago.

XLI.

May 20, 1861—Movement Was Begun to Organize Hospitals for the War—Miss Dorothea Dix Takes Up Her Great Work for the Soldiers—Beginnings of the Sanitary Commission.

(Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press.) FIFTY years ago today, while the North was preparing industriously for a great war, it was preparing also to meet, as an inevitable consequence of that war, the problem of the sick and wounded. As was the case, women took an important part in this work.

For years past the country had maintained an army of from 20,000 to 25,000 men and women. The medical care there was had at no time been any need to consider how to care for forces larger than a few regiments quartered at widely distant posts.

Now, however, it was a question not of regiments, but of brigades and divisions, soon, perhaps, of army corps and of a war that might last for months. Miss Dix, connecting with objects of philanthropy and usefulness, she is authorized to exercise general supervision of the assignment of nurses to the hospitals occupied by the troops at Washington.

Henceforth this woman, with her shattered health and advanced years, was to have a leading part in all care for the sick and to work untiringly for their welfare. Through it all, without a day's respite, organizing bands of nurses, forwarding supplies, inspecting hospitals, remedying neglect and abuse.

Miss Dix's Experience.

How great was the need of some efficient supervision was shown by the experiences of some of the nurses who were sent to the Crimea in India, and these had taught in a way not to be forgotten the meaning of sanitation, of efficient nursing, of care of the men in the field.

Heretofore, however, the lesson had been learned after or during the war; now it was proposed to prepare for the war in advance.

Sickness Already Beginning.

For the purpose of such preparation, the Sanitary Commission, in the time that elapsed since the evacuation of Sumter and the President's call for troops.

They were as yet no wounded, but these were beginning to be the sick, the natural consequence of the manner in which thousands of men—some not physically sound, others mere boys, young and active—had gathered—had been hurried to Washington for the capital's defense.

Untrained militia, these men had borne the hardest of veterans. Many of them had joined their regiments with insufficient clothing; few had had enough and proper food. They had marched in the sun, had bivouacked in the rain and mud, they had been herded in railroad cars and steamboats.

At Washington they had been quartered where there was room, for there was not best room. They had not learned yet how to look after themselves, and there was no one else to look after them. The result was the outbreak of disease, beginning among the weakest and least fit.

Already, therefore, the surgeon-general and the medical bureau could see the work that lay before them, and were preparing for its opening, new hospitals, engaging nurses, planning in various ways for the increase of the medical and surgical staffs.

It is impossible that the official preparation, however, will be the un-official represented by the work of Dorothea Lynde Dix, and the creation of the Sanitary Commission.

Miss Dix Starts Work.

Miss Dix in 1861 was 59 years old and far from strong. "Her constitution was mapped with malarias, rheumatism and pulmonary weakness." She had made herself known the country over by her twenty years of effort in behalf of the insane. She was used to performing big tasks single-handed, determined.

When the news came that the first volunteers were on their way to the capital, Miss Dix was with friends at Tucson, Ariz., resting after an arduous tour of the West. Feeling that her post of duty was also in Washington, she hurried to Baltimore, Md., where she arrived only three hours after the start between the soldiers and the populace.

The last train that was permitted to leave the city bore her to Washington, and the next day she rode to a friend that lived near herself and some nurses for free service at the War Department and to the surgeon general. "I think my duty," she said, "lies near military hospitals for the present."

Her services were gladly accepted

While on her way to the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank to cash a check for $105, shortly after noon yesterday, Mrs. John Dunkle of No. 231 South Pecan street, had her purse snatched by a young Mexican, in the east end of the Fourth-street bridge.

Mrs. Dunkle stated that she was carrying her bag loosely in her left hand, when a boy rode up on a bicycle and seized it.

He rode rapidly across the bridge,

Democratic party in Congress which has been predicted by many would precipitate in the fall of the month.

The test of leadership will be given in all probability com-

Some observers have consistently asserted that the Democratic party in

will split into two parts.
